Toughened Curved Glass

Glasshape Ltd
December 2010

Welcome again to TemperShield® News – the last publication for this year – the close of 2010 is approaching quickly! Glasshape have revolutionized many aspects of the business throughout the past year, with refurbished offices, upgraded software systems to handle customer enquiries more efficiently, a new glass racking system to assist with holding more stock glass lines, and of course amazing new glass products.

Glasshape have just launched a new range of High Security Glass including Intruder Resistant, Bullet Resistant and Bandit Resistant Glass, with a fantastic and informative 'must have' specifiers guide. If you haven't already seen it, please contact our sales team now to get one as it's the first of its kind in Australasia! info@glasshape.net.nz

The photos on the right are of a project recently completed in Melbourne. Curved toughened glass was used as a feature up the stair and the upstairs void area. The glass was used to create the sense of spaciousness in the living area. The dark timber treads add to the contemporary look of this very modern glass balustrade! The addition of curved walls around the stair help draw out the radius of the glass, especially in the void area.
